The screenshot shows a Google Sites page titled "MICHELAFIRSTWEBQUEST". The page has a dark header with the text "michelafirstwebquest" on the left and navigation links: "Home", "TOPIC", "TASK", "PROCESS", "RESOURCES", "EVALUATION", and "CONCLUSION". The main content area features a large heading "MY WEBQUEST" and a sub-heading "Click to edit text". Below this, there is a paragraph of text: "As more students gain access to the Internet, there is growing pressure on teachers to help their students use this valuable resource as an effective study tool. Webquests are just one way in which teachers can help. This is my first one..... enjoy your surfing!". To the left of the text is an image of three children sitting at a computer workstation. At the bottom right of the page is the "mediter" logo, which includes the text "European Mediterranean Network for Co-operation". The right sidebar shows a "Pages" menu with links to "Home", "TOPIC", "TASK", "PROCESS", "RESOURCES", "EVALUATION", and "CONCLUSION".
